Methodist Youth To Use Halloween Treats for Needy

TRICK OR TREAT: There's going to be a really different type of trick-or-treat in Harrisburg Friday night, which is most commendable. Dressed in Halloween costumes, young people from the MYF of the First Methodist church will be out helping others.

They are taking part in a nationwide program to get funds for unfortunate children in unfortunate countries.

It's all a part of the United Nations program to get help for these children. It's called the United Nations Children's Fund, and the Methodist young people are sending the "treats" they get at the various houses to the United Nations for helping others. The "treats" they get will be coins instead of candy and other good-things-to-eat.

What the young people are doing really is sharing their Halloween with the needy children of the world.

It's a wonderful thing, this program of sending coins which will fight disease and hunger among children in eighty underdeveloped countries. Just watch for the arm-band and sign on the coin box that will let you know you're dealing with the right bunch of children.

Even the smallest contribution will mean a great deal in terms of improved conditions of life for some diseased or undernourished child. For as little as 15 cents, UNICEF can supply enough penicillin to cure a child of yaws, a crippling tropical disease. Fifty cents will protect six persons against malaria for a year, and a dollar will provide enough powdered milk to give nine children a glass a day for a week.

Miss Mary Richardson is sponsor of this Intermediate Methodist group.

Lions Fund Drive For Aid of Blind

In cooperation with 430 Lions clubs in the state of Illinois, the Harrisburg Lions club is participating in a drive to obtain funds to aid the blind.

Although the drive is scheduled for one month—the month of November—colorful containers are being placed in business houses through the city of Harrisburg this week. All money dropped into these cans will be used for helping the blind. The funds will be divided between the Leader Dog program and the Hadley School of Braille Instruction.

"There will be no house-to-house canvass or other type of fund raising campaign other than collections received in the canisters," Lions president R. C. "Stopper" Adams stated.

It was announced that at next week's meeting Richard Ford of the Harrisburg Manufacturing company will speak to the Lions and all members are urged to be present.

Ollie Deaton, 65, Dies at Stonefort

Ollie Deaton, 65, husband of Mrs. Eula Cobb Deaton, died last night at his home in Stonefort.

He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James A. Deaton.

Surviving are his wife, Eula, and two sisters, Mrs. Lula Smith, Mt. Carmel, and Mrs. Lora Sittig, Harrisburg RFD 4.

The funeral will be Thursday at 2 p. m. at the Stonefort First Baptist church. Rev. Albert Harris will conduct the service, and burial will be in the Zion cemetery.

The body now lies in state at the Thornton funeral home in Stonefort.

Eisenhower Considers Final Campaign Tour

Believe President
Will Take Flying Trip
Friday and Saturday

WASHINGTON — The White House said today President Eisenhower hopes to make a final campaign tour before election day but is not sure yet whether his work schedule will permit it.

The chief executive was reported to be considering a flying trip on Friday and Saturday that would take him from New England into the South—as far as Louisville, Ky.—and into the upper Middle West.

The White House would give no details of the trip under consideration except to say that a stop in Michigan, where Sen. Homer Ferguson (R-Mich.) is running for reelection, is part of the itinerary being discussed.

The United Press learned from other sources that Secret Service agents already had made preliminary plans for the President to visit Boston Saturday, stopping for an hour and a half at Logan Airport to address a GOP rally.

Report Minnesota Visit
In Minneapolis, Minnesota Republican National Committeeman George Etzell told reporters the White House had advised him that a visit to his state is also "under consideration."

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told reporters that Mr. Eisenhower would like to make a final pre-election tour to encourage a heavy vote in the congressional elections next Tuesday, if his work will permit.

Hagerty had told reporters Monday night that plans for the last-minute tour had not been discussed with the President.

Today he reported that the proposed trip was put up to Mr. Eisenhower this morning by members of his staff.

He said Mr. Eisenhower indicated he would like to speak to the people and the workers for the Republican Party to see that everybody gets out and votes on election day.

"Any determination on whether he makes any such proposed swing will have to wait a day or two days," Hagerty said.

Mr. Eisenhower could not leave before sometime Friday, because he has a lunch here Thursday for Dr. Konrad Adenauer, head of the West German government, and makes a major political speech Thursday night from Washington. The report pointed up the increasingly active role Mr. Eisenhower appears to be assuming in the battle for control of the 84th Congress. In a speech Monday night, billed as "non-political," the chief executive got in a counter-attack on Democratic claims of economic dangers and charges his administration has failed to meet them.

Hitting at economic "doubters," Mr. Eisenhower announced a 400,000 drop in unemployment this month and predicted the national production would jump to $500,000,000 in less than a decade. The new unemployment figures revealed that the number of jobless has dropped below 3,000,000 for the first time this year—a fact that could have a bearing on the election outcome.

Hit Unemployment Issue
Democrats have sought to make unemployment an issue in the campaign, particularly in the big industrial states where unemployment has been highest.

There was no immediate reaction from Democrats or Republicans to Mr. Eisenhower's address.

As the campaign swung into its final week, the national chairman of both parties renewed their rivalry. GOP Chairman Charles McNamara, who predicted that Leonard V. Hall predicted that the voters a week from today will give the Republicans control of the House by 15 to 25 seats and the Senate by a "margin" of two.

But Hall's Democratic counterpart—Stephen A. Mitchell—said the "biggest Democratic sweep since 1936" is making. Mitchell claimed such normally Republican states as New Hampshire, Oregon, South Dakota, Nebraska and Michigan would contribute to the Democratic victory.

Legion to Sponsor Annual Halloween Celebration Saturday

The George Hart Post of the American Legion will sponsor the annual Halloween celebration on the square Saturday evening, Oct. 30. The square will be roped off at 5:30 p. m.

A committee will solicit gifts from business houses in the city for prizes all day tomorrow, and business places which are not contacted are urged to call at the American Legion hall. Chairman of the committee is Kendall Webb. A complete story and a list of prizes will be in Friday's paper.

Sergeant is Killed At Scott Base

SCOTT AIR FORCE BASE, Ill. — T. Sgt. Ora W. White, 30, was killed here Monday when he was sucked against the air intake of a Sabre jet plane.

Authorities said White stumbled and fell toward the intake after another crewman had started the aircraft's engine.

White was pulled against the intake with such force that he suffered a fractured skull and other head injuries. He was pronounced dead on arrival at the base hospital.

White lived with his wife and two children in an adjoining housing unit. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. John White of Carpenter, Ohio.

Four Offices at Stake in Gallatin County Election

New County Clerk
Assured First
Time in 24 Years

Pre-election day campaigning was expected to pick up considerable momentum this week in Gallatin county where four key offices are at stake on the county ballot.

A new county clerk is assured for the first time in 24 years, for Victor Pearce, popular Democrat who won election to the office six straight terms, died this past summer. The remainder of his term is being filled by his brother, Noble.

Yules Wren, Republican, and William S. Rister, Democrat and present county treasurer, are candidates for the post.

Harry Harmon, Democrat and incumbent county judge, will be opposed for re-election by Joseph R. Hale, Republican.

One of the most interesting races is expected in balloting for county sheriff where three candidates are out for the office. Millard F. Holloway, Republican and former sheriff of the county, is opposed by Aubrey Willis, Democrat, and Henry James, another former Gallatin county sheriff who is running on the Independent ticket. He is the only candidate on the Independent slate.

Horace G. Brown, Democrat incumbent, is unopposed on the ballot for county superintendent of schools.

Philip B. Benefiel and Paul A. Ziegler, Democrat nominees for State Representatives from the 48th Senatorial district, are opposed by Garrel Burgoon and Herschel S. Green, Republicans. Three representatives are to be elected.

A total of 222 absentee ballots had been requested as Monday morning.

In addition to the above mentioned candidates, voters will also cast ballots for U. S. Senator, state treasurer, state superintendent of public instruction, U. of I. trustees, and representative in congress, 25th Congressional district.

McCarthy Accuses Watkins, 2 Others Of 'Prejudice'

WASHINGTON — Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy today accused the chairman and two members of the Senate Censure committee of "prejudice" against him. He said their failure to disqualify themselves was a "fraud on the Senate."

The Wisconsin Republican made the charges against Sen. Arthur V. Watkins (R-Utah), chairman of the censure group, and two unidentified members, in a letter to Watkins. The special six-man committee last month unanimously recommended McCarthy's censure on two counts.

McCarthy said Watkins and the two members indicated "unquestioned" prejudice against him before they were selected to serve on the censure group. Yet, he said, they failed to report this to Vice President Richard M. Nixon who officially appointed them.

Brother of Hollis Barger Dies

Word was received yesterday afternoon of the death of Hal S. Barger, 64, brother of Hollis S. Barger of Harrisburg.

Mr. Barger, son of Rev. Ira S. Barger of Sullivan, Ill., died yesterday at 12:30 p. m. in the veterans hospital in Miami, Fla. He was a veteran of World War II.

He is also survived by a sister, Mrs. Ella Purdom of Pontiac, Mich.

Mr. Barger moved from Saline county 29 years ago, and his father moved to Sullivan from Saline county three years ago.

The body is being returned to the Gibbons funeral home and funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Dulles Says U. S. May Agree to Cold War Talks

Sees New Basis for Discussion When
Pact is Ratified

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles made it clear to the world today that the United States may agree to new cold war talks with Russia after the new agreements on German rearmament have been ratified.

In an unprecedented televised meeting of the President's cabinet, Dulles said "there may be a new basis for discussion" with the Communists "when we create, as we hope we will, a position of solidity and strength for Western Europe."

"At least we can hope," he added, "that then there can be talks more satisfactory than those that exist when the only object of the Soviet Union is, by trick or device, to try and break up the European unity."

The extraordinary cabinet meeting was called Monday night to dramatize the Paris agreement for enlisting West Germany in the European defense system. With the congressional elections only a week away, Republican leaders hoped it would help win votes for the GOP.

First In History
For the first time in history, Americans across the nation were invited via television to pull up a chair at a business session in the green-carpeted Cabinet Room at the White House.

As soon as his top advisers had assembled around the coffee-shaped mahogany table shortly after 7 p. m., President Eisenhower briskly called the meeting to order and introduced Dulles.

Dulles, waving a pencil for emphasis and referring occasionally to notes, carefully traced the free world's uphill struggle to build a strong defense system in Europe. The agreement finally reached at Paris, he said, was an achievement that "history will not soon forget."

In reply to a question interposed by Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson, Dulles said he is confident "the Soviet does not like what's going on" but he said there is so much "urgency and momentum" behind the Allied program he doesn't think Russia "will be able to break it up."

He then suggested a willingness to talk about ending the cold war after the Paris agreements have gone into effect. This was a clear effort to offset demands in France and Germany for East-West talks before the agreements are ratified.

During this part of Dulles' report Mr. Eisenhower smiled in agreement. In all, cabinet members interrupted Dulles three times to lend variety to the broadcast.

Dr. Frank Skaggs Tells Rotarians Of Life in Alaska

Dr. Frank P. Skaggs, recently discharged AAF medical officer who served several months in Alaska, gave an interesting and revealing talk at the regular Monday noon meeting of the Rotary club yesterday.

Skaggs spoke chiefly of the climate and civilian life in and around Fairbanks. Although the temperature became extremely cold on occasions, he related that it was a dry cold and therefore not so noticeable as such.

During the coldest season, the temperature often dipped as low as 50-60 degrees below zero, he said. Usually these cold snaps did not last longer than a week, the speaker stated, and when the temperature rose to 20 below the difference was very noticeable.

He recalled the summers as being very beautiful with the warmest days bringing 70 degree weather, fading to 40 degrees at night. From May to July much of the night hours brought a continuation of daylight. During June, Dr. Skaggs remarked, baseball is actually played at night in daylight, and he specifically mentioned one game that began at midnight.

Civilian life is little different than in the States, he felt. Food prices are considerably higher, but clothing prices are about the same. Food prices are high, he said, because it is necessary to bring most of it in by airplane.

Alaskan residents have a definite pride in their communities, the speaker asserted, and seem to back projects, both adult and youth, with greater interest than is shown in this country.

Club president John Foster reported that approximately $130.00 was cleared on the recent rummage sale. Several new members were welcomed into the club.

PRESIDENT WELCOMES DULLES—President Eisenhower, left, reaches for John Foster Dulles' hand to lead him to a waiting limousine after the State Secretary returned from Paris and the signing of the historic agreement on German rearmament. Dulles said the agreement marked "the beginning of a new era for Europe."

Loss of Truck Load Embarrasses Driver

LOS ANGELES — A truck driver threw traffic in the downtown area into mild pandemonium Monday when part of his load of intimate objects fell from the truck into the street.

Horns tooted and motorists hooted as the red-faced driver scurried among the stalled autos, frantically trying to retrieve a bouncing consignment of "falsies."

Powell Attacks Statements on Unemployment

Rep. Paul Powell and Ed Merchant were featured speakers at the Democratic rally held at the Galatia grade school Monday night.

Powell attacked a recent statement made by Republican speakers that the Big Inch pipeline, built during a Democratic administration which runs through Saline county, is a major cause of coal mine unemployment.

"It would seem that those speakers are misinformed and just don't know what they are talking about," Powell said.

"A major cause of unemployment in coal mining areas can be traced to the importing of natural gas, but the bill granting 'eminent domain rights in Illinois,' a bill allowing the storage of natural gas underground, was passed in 1951, with both the Illinois house and senate Republican dominated."

"The bill was passed with Republicans controlling the Senate 38-13 and the house 86-67," Powell stated.

Candidates Present
Referring to the unemployment situation, Rep. Powell stated 3,916 were added to Illinois relief rolls in the month of September and 140,000 are drawing unemployment compensation.

Powell also urged the defeat of the Blue Ballot proposition, urged the re-election of Senator Paul Douglas and the election of Dave Mallett, candidate for state treasurer and Mark Peterman, candidate for state superintendent of public instruction.

Ed Merchant of Vienna, candidate for state senator, spoke in behalf of his candidacy and county candidates — Don Garrison for clerk, Raymond Gardner for superintendent of schools, Maynard Cannon for treasurer, "Wee" Barret for sheriff and Trafton Dennis for judge — were introduced and spoke briefly in behalf of their campaigns.

Paul Gray, committeeman in Galatia and Steve Mitchell, chairman of the Saline county Democratic committee, were co-chairmen of the meeting.

Drop in Food Prices Lowers Living Costs, Bureau of Labor Reports

WASHINGTON — A drop in food prices lowered the nation's cost of living by three-tenths of 1 per cent from mid-August to mid-September, the government reported today.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said it was the sharpest monthly drop since last November for both food prices and the overall cost of living. Food prices declined 1.3 per cent during the month.

In a statement accompanying the price report, Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell said the average American factory worker in September "could buy more goods and services with his take-home pay than in the same month of any previous post-war year."

He said the average factory worker earned $71.86 a week in September, an all time high for that month. His take-home pay, assuming three dependents to be counted as tax exemptions, averaged $66.78, also a record-high for September.

Mitchell said the average worker with three dependents was able to buy 2 per cent more goods and services and the single worker 4 per cent more in mid-September than two years earlier when the rearmament boom was still under way.

"The rise in wage rates in the past year has offset the drop in the length of the work week," he said.

Reorganize U. S. Mines Bureau Safety Programs

WASHINGTON — The Interior Department has announced a reorganization of the Bureau of Mines to provide separate programs for health, safety and coal mine inspection.

The changes, recently recommended by a survey team, will become effective about Jan. 1. They include creation of special divisions for these activities, with eight district and 12 sub-district offices. The district supervisors of health and safety named today include E. E. Quenon, District E, comprising Indiana, Illinois, western Kentucky, Missouri, and Iowa, with headquarters at Vincennes, Ind.

William J. Fene, assistant chief of the present health and safety division, will become chief of the new division of safety. Harry F. Weaver is chief of the new division of coal mine inspectors. Activities of the health division will be under the supervision of the assistant director for health and safety pending selection of a chief to head this new organizational unit.

The division of health will include a branch of health research at Pittsburgh, Pa., where laboratory facilities are available. L. B. Berger will be chief of this branch. The division of safety will include a branch of accident analysis at Washington, with Seth T. Reese as chief. There will be a branch of electrical mechanical testing at Pittsburgh with E. J. Gleim as chief.

Harold J. Sloman, now assistant to Director J. F. Forbes, will be coordinator of educational activities for health and safety. W. H. Tomlinson, now chief of the accident prevention and health division of Region 8, will be field coordinator of safety educational work in coal mines.

Report 204 are Dead, 100 Hurt, 500 Homeless

Landslides Add to Toll; Area Scene
Of War II Invasion

NAPLES — Disastrous flash floods boiled down from Italy's coastal mountains today onto the famed tourist towns of Amalfi, Sorrento, Ravello and nearby villages, crumbling buildings, causing landslides and leaving a heavy toll of death and damage.

Tonight federal police headquarters here listed a total of 204 known dead and feared the total would rise still further as bulldozers reopened mud-choked roads to isolated villages. Incomplete reports listed more than 100 injured and upward of 500 homeless.

Authorities said they feared the toll would rise when rescue workers are able to send in official figures by radio from the stricken area, now cut off from normal communication with the outside.

Landslides added to the toll of death and damage.

The floods, started by a cloudburst during the night, collapsed houses, washed out roads and bridges, and inundated the narrow strip of flat coastline where Gen. Mark W. Clark's American troops stormed ashore in World War II.

Reports brought here by refugees said up to 57 persons were dead in Salerno alone. The center of the city and the entire beach area were reported under water.

Premier Mario Scelba ordered immediate emergency aid to the area. Naples firemen went to the scene to help with rescue operations.

Army units equipped with bulldozers were attempting to clear the blocked roads that cling to the seaside cliffs. Navy units, plus rescue crews and equipment ashore at points isolated from contact by land.

The Interior Ministry in Rome said the first reports indicated at least 500 persons were left homeless.

Prepare to Build Small Dam for Pumping Operations at Reservoir

The flume, through which Middle Fork water travels to the big pumps when there is sufficient water for the operation at the city reservoir pumping station, has been cleaned out and preparations are being made to put in a small wooden dam, Amos Doom, city water superintendent, reported today.

This dam, although small, will be designed to hold back enough water for better pumping operations and will be constructed with the thought in mind that when Lake Harrisburg water is sent down the creek in the future, it must not be allowed to run on by the pumps.

The dam, to be made of timbers, will be two feet high.

Rainfall from 7 a. m. yesterday to 7 a. m. today measured but .33 inch, not enough for any pumping of water into the reservoir.

Mrs. Molly Edwards, 90, Former Resident of Galatia, Dies at Benton

Mrs. Mary R. Edwards, 90, known to her friends as "Molly," wife of E. E. Edwards of Benton, died yesterday afternoon.

She and her husband formerly lived in Galatia where he operated a poultry house for several years.

The body is now at the Courtney funeral home in Galatia where the funeral will be held Wednesday at 11 a. m. with the Rev. Joe Smith officiating. Burial will be in the Webber Campground cemetery east of Galatia.

She leaves her husband, B. E., and the following children: Mrs. Myrtle Ragsdale, Davenport, Ia.; Mrs. Gwin Lenley, Brunell, Ia.; Pete Edwards, Phoenix, Ariz., and Ben Edwards, Benton; and one brother, George Pemberton of Galatia.

Jimmy Lee Beal, 15, Accidentally Shot

Jimmy Lee Beal, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Beal, Harrisburg Route 3, was shot accidentally in the leg this morning by a shotgun blast and was taken to the Lightner hospital.

His mother said that Jimmy Lee and two other boys had been hunting near Pankeyville but had returned to their car and that the gun went off as it was being put into the auto.

An ambulance was called and he was brought to the Lightner hospital. His mother said the injury was serious but believed not critical.

Woman Charged

Imogene Sullivan is charged with contributing to the dependency of her five children, their ages running from three to 11, in a county court information.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY
How oft shall my brother sin
against me and I forgive him? —
Matthew 18:21.

The ancient law said seven times. But Christ said seventy times seven. That would indeed be a triumph of charity. We do sin against God often than that.
It is well that the Infinite has limitless patience, we all need it.

'As Alaska Goes—'

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
There never has been a slogan,
"As Alaska Goes, So Goes the Nation." But apparently there might well have been, for Alaska's election results have for 20 years accurately reflected trends in the continental United States.

This fact, like the September outcome in Maine, can hardly bring comfort to the Republican Party at this juncture in the 1954 battle for control of Congress. The Democrats have just won a smashing victory in Alaska.

The returns indicate the Democrats have captured solid control of the Alaska legislature, and that the Democratic choice for delegate to the U. S. House has beaten the Republican by a margin of almost three to one. Two years ago the winning Democrat got just 58 per cent of the vote for delegate.

The Democratic score on the territorial legislature, however, was more than just a change in percentage. Two years ago the Republicans swept the boards, winning 20 out of 24 House seats and 11 out of 16 Senate posts.

Republican leaders in Washington are saying publicly that the Alaska outcome is not to be taken as a harbinger of things to come,
that the issues in the territorial
campaign had nothing whatsoever
to do with national issues governing the congressional contests
across the country.

It would be a great surprise if they should be overheard saying the same thing privately. For the signs that the Democrats may gain substantial strength in the U. S.
House and enough to take the Senate reins as well, are mounting steadily. A reversal in such a bellwether area as Alaska cannot help but be disturbing.

If there are any strong indications of a contrary movement toward the Republicans, the host of analysts, pollsters and doorbell ringers now combing the American landscape have so far failed to find them.

That does not mean some may not exist. We must always remember 1948, when all the signs seemed to point toward the election of Governor Dewey of New York as President, but Harry S. Truman
beat him out by two million votes.
Nevertheless, no prudent politician who had read the signs to date would go blithely about making rash assumptions of victory on Nov. 2. If the Republicans now go on to hold control of Congress,
or even just the Senate, they will have to be credited with confounding most of the experts and the grass-roots investigators.

Everything Is Modernized Nowadays—but Politics

★ EDSON IN WASHINGTON ★

Writer Visits Paradise; Finds Reds Already There

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

SAN MARINO — (NEA) — It
is apparently impossible to get away from it all. For the past month, this correspondent and wife
have been touring northern Italy
in a rented, midsize Italian car. We avoided the big shots as much as possible, toured the back roads,
didn't read the newspapers, let
the international and economic situations go hang. This vacation
was to be for fun, and not to study conditions or feel pulses.

One place we sought out was San Marino. As you know, this is one of the smallest, and also claims to be the oldest, republic
in the world, dating back to the fourth century. It is roughly six miles by six and has about 12,000 inhabitants. It is located 100 miles or so south of Venice, entirely surrounded by Italy, from which it is, however, completely independent.

San Marino is situated on the side of a 2,300-foot mountain, half an hour's drive from the Adriatic coast. Its capital town is topped by three old castles cresting a sheer drop of a thousand feet or more. It's a real fairy-tale setting.
Surely this was the place to get away from it all.

HOW WRONG WE WERE we didn't learn till later. For the country has a Communist government—the only one outside the Iron Curtain—and they played Frank Sinatra records on the phonograph for dinner music in our hotel. No, you can't get away from it all.

We had arrived just at dusk. Nobody wanted to see passports or check baggage as we crossed the "frontier." A sign over the road at the border said, "Welcome to the Free Republic of San Marino."

We didn't even have to register
at the hotel. We learned quickly
there were no taxes of any kind.
Paradise at last. No traffic cops.

We went out to look over a few sights before dark. There was a magnificent purple and gold, Technicolor sunset lighting up half the heavens over the distant mountains.

Around a corner on a steep and crooked street and there—drawn up on a tiny flagstoned square before a crenelated castle that would shame a Hollywood set for Gaustark—were 28 lord high admirals

in full dress. They wore Napoleon hats with plumes, blue tailcoats,
gold epaulettes and there were wide
yellow stripes down the pants legs.
They carried swords, raised in salute.

FROM A FLAG-DRAPE BAL-CONY of that castle, a guy in high silk hat and tail-coat was reading
a proclamation. At the end, a 60-piece band played what was obviously the San Marino national anthem. A couple hundred of the citizenry, assembled on the square
for the ceremony, applauded. Then they all paraded down the mountain and went home to supper.

This was the way to run a country. Have bands of 60 and armies of 28, all of them generals or even field marshals. The army, it turned out, was the hereditary Guard of Nobles, centuries old. The ceremony was the semi-annual naming of the two "Captains Regent" who would serve as heads of the government for the next six months.
They don't let 'em serve long enough to become crooks, obviously.

Then "the facts" began to come out. One of the Captains Regent was a Commie. The other wasn't.
The parliament, or Grand Council of 60 which had elected them, was divided 31 Communists, 29 Christian Democrats. The government had been Communist for five years. It will continue so for the next three, at least.

WHAT THE APPEAL of communism is to this largely agricultural, wine and cake-exporting
country, is a little hard to figure.
One of the first acts of the Communists was to shut down the gambling casino, on whose revenue
San Marino had been able to exist
as a tax-free community for years.
Gambling was said to be too capitalistic a pastime.

Since then the government has had to exist on revenues from the sale of postcards and postage stamps bought by the millions and mailed out to folks back home by the hundreds of thousands of tourists who flock to San Marino for a day's outing or longer vacations
every year.

The hotel where we stayed was formerly the private palace of one of the numerous, wealthy Italian Counts Borghese. One day the Communists came to him and told him it wasn't right for one family
to have as big a house as he had.
He should keep one room for himself and divide the rest as flats.
Instead, he made the whole thing
a hotel.

None of the San Marino Communists has ever been to Moscow
and they show little interest in going to see what it's like. They have little truck with the Italian Communists either. But there they are, a local political phenomenon.
It just goes to show that the pinkos
have infiltrated even paradise.
Make of it what you will.

Annual Southern Division IEA Meeting Friday

The annual meeting of the Southern division of the Illinois Education association will be held at Shryock auditorium at Southern Illinois university, Carbondale,
next Friday.

Principal addresses will be given
by Emilie Jacobson, lecturer, journalist and actress, and Jesse Stuart, farmer-writer. Miss Jacobson will speak at 11 a. m. using the subject, "Humor, Weapon of Free People," and Mr. Stuart's
subject at 1:30 p. m. will be "Education and American Democracy."
The program will start at 9 a. m.
with organ music by Keith Pearce until 9:30. Then following the invocation, John W. Allen of SIU will welcome the educators. Preceding Miss Jacobson's talk will be the president's address by Taft Baker, superintendent of schools at Carverville, and a social hour.

The afternoon program will begin with organ music by Keith Pearce from 1 to 1:30 and after
Mr. Stuart's talk there will be a program called "A Modern Concert in Song," with Ralph Nielson,
tenor, and Audrey Paul, contral-
to.

Birch Slices Girl, Vanishes Pony in Acts

Thrilling, fascinating, astounding,
wonderful, might describe
some of the miraculous feats
which Birch, Master Magician, will perform Tuesday, Nov. 2 at Bennell gym.

His appearance here is being sponsored by the Kiwanis club to raise money needed to carry on its summer baseball program and activities in behalf of underprivileged children.

Included in the Birch performance are such bewildering illusions as the Vanishing Pony, in which a beautiful Shetland is caused to vanish while suspended in mid-air; the Challenge Packing Box escape in which Birch will attempt to escape from a strong box constructed by a local lumber company; the Beautiful Silk Mirage where yards and yards of gorgeous rainbow silks appear from nowhere; the Canary and the Mazda lamp, in which a live canary is shot into a burning light
bulb; and fifty other amazing illusions.

A huge truck transports the thirty-eight trunks and crates of equipment and scenery, making the Birch production the largest magical show on tour in the United States today.

Miss Mabel Sperry, brilliant
young xylophonist, is the assisting artist. A star of radio and com-cert fame, she brings you delightful melodies on her World's Fair Marimba.

The advance ticket sale has already started and tickets may be purchased from members of the Kiwanis club.

The Birch show will be given at Bennell gymnasium at 8 p. m. on Nov. 2 for adults and children. In the afternoon at 3 o'clock, also at Bennell gym, a show will be given for school children at special prices.

COMPLETES TWO YEARS' MILITARY SERVICE

Sgt. Lowell E. Kent, son of Mrs.
Hobart Rawlings, has completed
two years in military service, 16
months of which he spent in Korea,
where he was decorated with commendation ribbon and medal pendant for meritorious service as a radio operator in 1953. Sgt. Kent interrupted his education at Southern Illinois university, to enter military service and expects to return to SIU campus.

While in Korea and Japan he sent his mother many lovely oriental gifts, including a 93 piece set of beautiful Japanese china, a Japanese silk robe, a beautiful Japanese painting, and a nationality
doll which is one of the most beautiful that could be found.

RIDGWAY MAN IS PROMOTED TO SERGEANT

John W. Murphy, son of Dan A.
Murphy, RFD 2, Ridgway, recently was promoted to sergeant while serving with the 8th Infantry Division at Fort Carson, Colo. A section leader in the 28th Regiment's Company M, Murphy entered the Army in December 1952 and served with the 25th Infantry Division
in Korea 12 months.

Ronnie Bean, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bean, who entered naval service recently, has the following address: Ronald Edward Bean, Co.
260, 102nd Battalion, 10th Regiment, U. S. Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

Swarming Bats

One of the great spectacles of the Carlsbad Caverns is the flight of bats about sundown from the Bat Cave, which is not open to the public. Hundreds of them, in a black cloud, stream out over the rim in a southerly direction, not to return until dawn.

Lohman Plans to Be Present When Recording Played

CHICAGO — Joseph Lohman,
Democratic candidate for Cook county sheriff, says he plans to be present when Gov. William G.
Stratton plays a recording of a controversial Lohman speech Wednesday.

At the same time, Lohman was challenged by his GOP opponent to take a lie detector test about whether he said a "disproportionate"
number of policemen marry former prostitutes.

Stratton has promised to play
an original wire recording of Lohman's alleged 1952 remarks to

managing editors of Chicago newspapers at the State Office Building
here Wednesday.

Lohman issued a statement Monday night saying "I plan to attend
the show that Billie the Kid is staging."

"I intend at that performance to expose still more of the fakery in this whole situation," he added.

Lohman has charged that the statements attributed to him were a "hoax." He also said the "fakery" was revealed when Stratton played a tape recording instead of the original wire recording at a recent news conference in Springfield.

New super-refined gasoline gives

more power-with-protection than you've ever known!

► Now—Gulf refines out the "dirty-burning tail-end" of gasoline—the No. 1 troublemaker in high-compression engines. Result: a cleaner-burning super-fuel that gives you thousands of extra miles of full engine power...free from knock or pre-ignition.

1 Lamp demonstration: Instead of trying to fight harmful deposits with so-called "miracle additives"—inside your engine
—Gulf believes in preventing them from forming in the first place, removes the cause—the "dirty-burning tail-end"—at the refinery. Just look at the plates in the unretouched photo above and see what a difference Gulf super-refining makes!

2 See for yourself: The spark plug shown here is from one of the many sets of original equipment plugs used in Gulf test fleet cars.

Though spark plugs normally need cleaning or replacement after 5,000 to 10,000 miles, this plug and its mates did not need cleaning or replacement in over

15,000 miles of city and country driving.
What's more besides giving your engine more complete protection, new Super-Refined Gulf NO-NOX gives you extra gas mileage in the short-trip, stop-
and-go driving motorists do most...no
knock, no pre-ignition...instant starts
and fast, fuel-saving warm-up.

Two Members Eliminated from Sheppard Jury

CLEVELAND, Ohio — Per-emptory challenges eliminated two members from the Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard jury today after the court ordered photographers to stay away from the trial scene until the full group is seated.

The first victim today was letter-carrier Gerald Liederbach. His mail route includes the home of Fred Carmichael, one of the lawyers who is defending Sheppard against the charge he murdered his wife.

He was dismissed by the prosecution.

Second to fall by the wayside and the fourth since the per-emptory challenges started was Mrs. Maria White, a housewife who was tentatively seated only Monday to replace an earlier challenge victim.

Liederbach was succeeded in the number 11 spot by Mrs. Genevieve Pelsky, who broke down and cried under defense questioning. She pleaded she did not want to be a member of the group.

Common Pleas Judge Edward Blythin ordered the photography ban as the trial's seventh day got underway. Defense Atty. William Corrigan protested there were 15 cameramen in the courtroom before the trial resumed. "Can you imagine what effect this has on these prospective jurors?" he asked.

Sheppard was in tears as he entered the courtroom today. His brothers explained the defendant had just learned of the death of his wife's grandfather. He sobbed nearly half an hour before he overcame his tears and turned his full attention to courtroom proceedings.

Liberty Baptist W.M.S. Has Royal Service Program

The W. M. S. of the Liberty Baptist church met at the home of Mrs. Lela Gibbs Friday evening for the Royal Service program.

Mrs. Woodrow Owen, president, opened the meeting and presided over the business session during which time it was decided to start a special project to finish the church kitchen with Mrs. Renzo Horton as treasurer.

The hymn, "My Faith Looks Up to Thee," was sung and Mrs. George Froman led in the opening prayer. Mrs. Elbert Langford then had charge of the program, giving the devotion. She read from Isaiah 40:3 which announced the theme of the new year "Prepare Ye the Way of the Lord."

Topics were given on the following pioneer mission fields: Asia, Mrs. Harry Powell; Africa, Mrs. Renzo Horton; Europe, Mrs. Willie Hendren; Latin America, Mrs. Esco Horton; Russia, Mrs. Lela Gibbs.

Concluding thoughts were given by Mrs. Bryan Malone. The topics were interspersed with prayers by Mrs. Hendren, Mrs. Langford, Mrs. George Mitchell, Mrs. Malone and Mrs. Powell.

Delicious refreshments of angel food cake, salad and cold drinks were served following the meeting.

Xi Chi Chapter Has Lesson on Flowers

Xi Chi chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met in the club room of the public library Wednesday evening, Oct. 20.

Mrs. Jack Davenport gave an interesting lesson on flowers and corsages. She made two corsages and presented them to the chapter president, Mrs. Herman Boatright, and to Mrs. Gene Bland, guest of the evening who is transferring her membership from Cairo chapter to the Harrisburg chapter.

Mrs. J. A. Bottomley announced a preferential tea to be held at the home of Mrs. Hudson Mudge Sunday, Nov. 7, from 3 p. m. to 5 p. m.

Mrs. Wendell Bramlet and Mrs. Lewis Fulkerson served as hostesses for the evening.

Harrisburg Woman's Club Has Program on Indian Affairs

The Harrisburg Woman's club met yesterday afternoon in the public library for an enlightening program on "Indian Affairs."

Lovely bouquets of fall flowers graced the stage, the piano and officers' table.

The meeting opened with the song "Home on the Range," directed by Mrs. D. H. Hiller with Mrs. Dale Sullivan at the piano.

The president, Mrs. J. L. Miller, then presented Mrs. V. V. Brown, program chairman, who introduced Miss Myra Burnam who sang "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Sullivan at the piano.

The devotion was ably presented by Mrs. J. A. Bottomley who stated that the American people seem to have forgotten the Indians' plight in the confusion of uprisings from other races. She also said that movies and pictures tend to glamorize the Indian reservations, but actually seeing the living conditions of the Indians gives an entirely different effect. In closing she gave several facts about the Navajo Indians, their feeling of democracy, ways of life, religion and beliefs.

The program was concluded with a film entitled "Pueblo Boy" in color shown by Miss Cuba Turner.

Naomi Ruth Class Meets With Mrs. Bettie Norman

The Naomi Ruth Sunday school class of the Pankeyville Baptist church met Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Bettie Norman for the regular class social.

Mrs. Blanche Lauderdale, class president, was in charge of the meeting which opened with the song "I Am Thine, O Lord." Mrs. Alta Norman gave a challenging devotion, reading from Matthew 28 and basing her remarks on "The Great Commission."

Mrs. Hattie Moyer and Miss Gertrude Wasson led in prayer.

Roll call was answered with a scripture verse containing the word Jehovah. Plans were made for a "Bring a Friend" social to be held next month. It will be a pot-luck supper in the basement of the church.

Prayers especially for the revival now in progress at the church were offered.

Mrs. Moyer, teacher of the class, suggested plans she would like for the group captains to use in visitation.

Mrs. Norman served refreshments of doughnuts and coffee.

His Disciples Class Has Halloween Party

His Disciples Sunday school class of the Dorrisville Social Brethren church held its Halloween social Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Cordelia York, 1325 South Land street.

Games were played and prizes won by Mrs. Harold Gulley, Mrs. Lucille Pankey, Mrs. Sam Stump and Mrs. Lawrence Reed.

Delicious refreshments of barbecue sandwiches, potato chips, olives, candied crab apples and Cokes were served to Mrs. Thurman Gulley, Mrs. Harold Gulley, Mrs. Lawrence Reed, Mrs. Perry Austin, Mrs. George Killman, Mrs. Charles Stricklin, Mrs. Lucille Pankey, Mrs. Sarah Reynolds, Mrs. Floyd York, Mrs. Dewey Durfee, Mrs. Sam Stump, Mrs. Kenneth Huffstader, and the following visitors: Mrs. Cecil Cook, Mrs. Lon Vaughn, Janet Cook and Mickey Pankey.

Doris Ledbetter Hostess to General Baptist Busy Bees

The Busy Bee Sunday school class of the General Baptist church met at the home of Doris Ledbetter Friday at 7 p. m. for a Halloween party.

The children who all came masked were guessed by their teacher, Mrs. George Fowler.

After enjoying television the following received refreshments: Betty Thompson, Violet Morris, Judy Thompson, Patty Hicks, Mary Morris, Doris Ledbetter, Wanda Ed-ward, Marilyn Hicks, Doris Deaton, the teacher, Mrs. Fowler, Nola Gillihan, and visitors, Carolyn Ledbetter, Linda Deaton, Janet Ledbetter, Donna Shewmake, Mr. and Mrs. Eston Ledbetter, Tommy and Norma Ledbetter.

Sandburg Takes

Poetic License

With Own Lines

WASHINGTON — Carl Sandburg, a seedy-looking genius in a beat-up tux, took poetic license
with some of his own lines Monday night for an earthy comment on the Washington scene.

The result brought down the house.

It went like this:
Before a small audience at the Library of Congress, Sandburg was reciting folksy proverbs from his long poem—he says it's his favorite
—"The People, Yes."

"We'll see what we'll see."
"Today me and tomorrow maybe you."

At 76, Sandburg rolled the tones
stoutly in his broad Midwestern voice, as vibrant now as two generations ago when he became the literary symbol of the American prairie.

"We all belong to the same big family and have the same smell."
"Handling honey, tar or dung,"
some of it sticks to the fingers.

Right here came the added line,
which isn't in any printed version of the poem and which was intoned
by Sandburg without a change of pace or a break in rhythm.

"I thought of that when some of the hearings were on this summer."
"The liar comes to believe his own lies."

The last line is from the original. Half his audience of about 300 didn't hear Sandburg recite it
Monday night—they drowned him
out with peals of laughter.

Livingston Asks

Delay in Naming

U. of I. President

CHICAGO — Park Livingston, a member and former president of the University of Illinois Board of Trustees, said today he will ask the board to postpone naming a new university president.

The board meets Wednesday at Champaign, and Chicago newspapers (the Sun-Times and the Tribune) have reported most of the trustees are ready to name David
D. Henry, vice chancellor of New York University and former president of Wayne University at Detroit.

Livingston, who ran unsuccessfully for the GOP nomination for U. S. Senate, said he will introduce letters from at least two former trustees urging a delay in naming
a new president.

Gov. William G. Stratton and Vernon L. Nickell, Republican candidate for re-election as state superintendent of public instruction,
both ex-officio members of the board of trustees, have previously indicated they would like a delay in naming a new president.

Stratton told a Dad's Day audience at the university last week
that he wished Acting President Lloyd Morey "could see his way clear to stay on year after year as president of the University of Illinois... continuing the record of accomplishment he has given us
in the last two years."

Nickell has asked Herbert Mc-gran, president of the board of trustees, to delay a vote until after the Nov. 2 general election.

Flair-Fashioned... Coming November 17

DODGE has done it... better wait!

Onarga is having a fair season.

The Indians are unbeaten and untied and have scored 123 points to opponents' 6 in four Vermilion Valley conference games.

Kankakee quarterback Chuck Boudreau may be indicted for larceny before this season is over.

Twice before he has stolen the ball from unwary opponents, once taking it on an 80-yard scoring romp, Friday night he did it again, snatching the ball from Belvidere tackle Bob Fair as Fair raced with a key fumble across the Kankakee one-yard line.

After being held for downs twice in the game on the Belvidere one, Kankakee finally learned the secret of scoring as Boudreau passed for the marker when the land attack bogged down on the three.

Belleville fullback Bill Slaton got four touchdowns and gained 204 yards in 27 carries as the Maroons whitewashed Belleville Cathedral 33-0.

Farmington and Tremont played to a tie for the second straight year, this time 7-7.

In Venice the Bridge of Sighs connects the palace with the prisons of the city.

Unbeaten Shelbyville is the "heavy" favorite in the Mid-State conference.

Larry Cheney is the 285 pound center and David Faulkner is a 245 pound tackle for the Rams, winners of six straight. The two linemen are believed to be the heaviest players in the conference.

Among the have-nots this year are Flora, which has lost five of six and is now sure to go under the 500 mark for the first time since Bert Dancy started coaching there in 1927; and Vandalia and Bradley, losers of six straight. But somebody wins when two have-nots get together, as Lincoln proved last Friday, taking its first victory from winless Monmouth 40-12.

Eliot Hopes Illini Will Not Drop Back in Rut

Rates Caroline As Good As 1953, But Doesn't Get Blocking

CHICAGO (U)—One victory doesn't make a season, and Coach Ray Eliot of Illinois was hopeful today that his luckless club wouldn't settle back in a rut now that its losing streak is broken.

The Illini got off to the worst start in its football history this season, losing the first four games before earning a 34 to 6 win over Syracuse. But Eliot saw only some dim light in the victory.

"We did a little better," he said. "We did a better job of blocking and tackling and we were more alert. But all we've got ahead are tough ones, starting with Purdue."

Following the Boilermakers, Illinois must meet Michigan, Wisconsin and Northwestern in order and all but the Wildcats probably will be heavy favorites over the Illini, who only a year ago were co-champions of the Big Ten with only one defeat and one tie in nine games.

J. C. Caroline set new rushing records for the conference and Illinois and made All-American as the star of the 1953 team. And this year Caroline is still at hand and still good, under Eliot's hand.

"But he hasn't got the line in front of him," Eliot complained. "He doesn't get the blocks this year that he did last, but he's every bit as good now as he ever was."

"And his defensive work is fine." Defense was Caroline's major problem last year and in early season some critics contended he gave up as many touchdowns as he scored.

But a partial explanation for this was advanced by the Illini athletic director, Doug Mills, who said that in three years as defensive halfback for Illinois in the 20s, he was called on to make only four tackles, "and I missed two of those."

Caroline, on the other hand, made nine tackles in the first 15 minutes against Ohio State and seven in the first half against Minnesota.

In addition to such sparkling tackling, Caroline has averaged nearly five yards a carry for the Illini this year with 360 yards in 70 attempts. He has scored three of Illinois' nine touchdowns and made one point after touchdown.

Despite Eliot's pessimism over the slow development of a team he classed in pre-season estimates as "30 per cent" worse than his club of 1953, Purdue's Stu Holcomb still had fears for Saturday's game.

"They've got great backs," he said. "The material in the line isn't bad, but it hasn't been able to do the job. I'm just afraid they'll jell against us. And we could be in for a rough afternoon."

Eliot believed his team began to come in its 19 to 7 loss to Minnesota as his boys had better tackling and better contact performance.

But Purdue should be different from Syracuse, unless the Illini "jell" fast—and hard.

Other Big Ten games this week will be Indiana at Michigan, Ohio State at Northwestern, Michigan State at Minnesota and Wisconsin at Iowa.

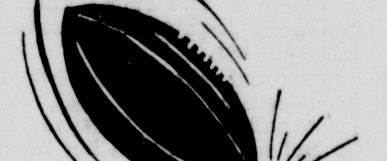

"STRAIGHT MAN" — Jimmy "Straight Wire" Wade, last year's top scorer in the Southeastern Conference, is Tennessee's big offensive threat this year. (NEA)

By CHET SMITH
Written for NEA Service
Yale was having a tough time trying to hold on to the ball.

One scoring chance after another went glimmering because of fumbles, and as the game wore on Dr.

Ma Stevens grew more desperate while the crowd — the Yale section, that is — plainly was getting fed up.

In the fourth quarter, Dr. Stevens decided on a substitution in his backfield and gave the order for the player to warm up.

The process of warming up a back at New Haven in those days called for the in-going player to take a few snapshots from a center, directly behind the bench and in front of the spectators.

And when the substitute dropped he first one, an anguished voice cried out:

"Put him in, Doc—he's ready."

Alton's second period safety was the margin of victory over the Edwardsville Tigers.

Both teams scored touchdowns and conversions in the final quarter but the Alton defenders who pulled down Tiger fullback Johnson in the end zone made the 9-7 final difference.

Charleston grabbed a half-game lead in the Eastern Illinois conference with an 18-7 victory over Paris, but it was a lot closer than that. Paris had two touchdowns called back for penalties in the fourth period and made three marches on the Trojan goal in the second half without scoring.

NEW YORK: Chico Varona, 150-1-4, Cuba, outpointed Johnny Bratton, 155-1-4, New York (10).

PROVIDENCE, R. I.: Pete Adams, 154, Newark, N. J., outpointed Larry Villeneuve, 159-1-2, Providence (10).

MILWAUKEE, Wis.: Ernie Durando, 160-1-2, Bayonne, N. J., outpointed Bobby Dykes, 158-3-4, Miami, Fla. (10).

Looking AT Sports

By BILL MELTON

With the wave of upsets on the football field and the major league clubs bolstering their rosters for the 1955 pennant fights, The Sporting News these days is filled with interesting developments for sports followers, as well as Hot Stove gossip about past performances.

The Sporting News Sports quiz takes you back through the years. How good a sports fan are you? If you score more than twenty points in this quiz you're an average fan — thirty you're better than average — fifty you're perfect! Mark your choices 1-2-3-4. If you are right on a first pick, score yourself ten points, make it five for a second, three for a third and one for a third and one for a fourth.

1. How are you on players in Baseball's Hall of Fame? Which of these players has not been honored with a place at Cooperstown?
() Gehrig () DiMaggio () Nichols () Grove () Foxx () Ott

2. Gene Tunney retired as undefeated heavyweight boxing champion in 1928. What is the name of his last opponent?
() Dempsey () Loughran () Sharkey () Heeney () Stribling () Uzundun

3. While The Sporting News named Grim and Moon as the Rookies of the Year for 1954 — can you remember which of these players was named as the National League Rookie of the Year in 1953?
() Bruton () Greengrass () Jablonski () Gilliam () Had-dix () Repulski

4. One football player in 1950 won the John H. Heisman and Silver Football awards. He played professional baseball in 1953 and 1954 — and is now playing as a professional football player. Can you name this man?
() Giel () Janowicz () Lu-jack () Hart () Kazmaier () Wilson

5. Which of these players made 200 or more hits in the 1954 season — reaching this total for the first time in his professional career?
() Bell () Mueller () Rosen () Mueller

Answers to The Sporting News Sports Quiz in this column Wednesday.

Illinois Grid Snapshots

SPRINGFIELD (U)— Snapshots from the Illinois prep football scene:

Giant-killers of the week honors for the past weekend went to Atwood. Atwood whipped previously unbeaten, untied and unscored on Newman 12-7. And the Rajahs did it without a player who weighs more than 153 pounds. Tackles Duane Traxler and O. V. Darby are the heaviest men on the squad, Coach Les Gadbury said.

Alton's second period safety was the margin of victory over the Edwardsville Tigers.

Both teams scored touchdowns and conversions in the final quarter but the Alton defenders who pulled down Tiger fullback Johnson in the end zone made the 9-7 final difference.

Charleston grabbed a half-game lead in the Eastern Illinois conference with an 18-7 victory over Paris, but it was a lot closer than that. Paris had two touchdowns called back for penalties in the fourth period and made three marches on the Trojan goal in the second half without scoring.

UCLA Takes Over First in Grid Ratings; Ohio State, Oklahoma Tie for Second

NEW YORK (U)— UCLA, the highest scoring college football team in the nation, took over the No. 1 spot in the United Press ratings today in a surprise shakeup, with Oklahoma and Ohio State tied for second place only three points behind.

It was the closest weekly contest for first place in the five-year history of the United Press ratings.

Oklahoma, which topped the ratings for the three previous weeks, received the largest total of first-place votes from the 35 leading coaches who make up the rating board. The Sooners attracted 17 compared to 10 for Ohio State and eight for UCLA.

But Coach Harold (Red) Sanders' Bruins, who have averaged nearly 44 points per game in achieving six straight victories, received a greater total of second and third place votes than their rivals. As a result, UCLA had 304 out of a possible 350 points while Oklahoma and Ohio State each had 301.

UCLA, which crushed Oregon State, 61-0, last Saturday had 16 votes for second place, nine for third, and one each for fourth and 10th places. The Bruins ranked third for the two previous weeks after being fourth and second for the first two weeks of the season.

Bull Dogs Play Strong East St. Louis Assumption Thursday Night

The Harrisburg Bull Dogs, who tied Herrin 26 to 26 last Friday night in a South Seven conference football game, move all the way to East St. Louis this week for a Thursday night contest.

The foe will be Assumption high school, a powerful team, and the tilt will be played at Parsons Field. This Thursday contest will start at 8 p. m.

The local aggregation will leave Taylor Field by bus at 1:30 p. m. Thursday for the contest.

Coach Lawrence Caluffetti today said that Assumption is a powerful club, usually making its gains thru the line and around end on power plays.

"The Assumption boys are big and fast," he stated. "All the backs are good runners."

Assumption has lost but a single game this year, it was reported, and this was to an East St. Louis team that has won 27 games in a row. In this contest Assumption was beaten, 27 to 12, the score at halftime being 14 to 12.

Caluffetti said that in previous games the East St. Louis team runs from a short punt formation, using a balanced line, and does its kicking from a spread line.

Regarding the Harrisburg-Herrin contest here Friday, Coach Caluffetti said that he was well satisfied with the team spirit, and the way the Bull Dogs played in all departments except one. That department was alertness, he said.

"Failure to be alert gave Herrin several touchdowns against us," he said.

AMA, Lawyers Work Out Laws on Test Tube Babies

CHICAGO (UP)—A representative of the American Medical Assn. met with lawyers today to work out proposed laws on "test tube" babies.

The AMA representative and members of a Chicago Bar Assn. sub-committee discussed whether such babies, the product of artificial insemination, are legitimate.

They also investigated whether artificial insemination is adulterous and whether the mother of a "test tube" baby is the sole legal parent.

The need for legislation on the subject was pointed up in two recent Chicago divorce cases in which precedent-setting rulings have been asked.

A lawyer in one of the cases said no American court has ruled whether artificial insemination constitutes adultery and whether children born of the process are legitimate.

He said a Canadian court has implied that artificial insemination constitutes adultery.

Edward Homan, an attorney, represented the AMA.

Italian Troops Hailed in Trieste as Cheering Crowds Prevent Ceremony

TRIESTE (UP)—Italian troops proudly entered Zone A of the strife-torn Trieste territory today, officially ending nine years of Anglo-American occupation.

Gen. Edmondo De Renzi crossed the border at the head of a motorized column of plumed Italian infantrymen and took over the zone's administrative powers.

But wildly excited Triestines defied a wind-lashed rainstorm and broke through police cordons in a joyous demonstration which forced cancellation of the ceremony returning Trieste city to Italy.

In Rome thousands of young students staged a one-day "strike," cutting classes and parading noisily through the streets to mark the re-entry of Italian troops into Trieste.

The marchers snarled traffic in the central business district. But the demonstrations went off peacefully under the eyes of alerted riot police.

Most of the demonstrators celebrated the return of Trieste city to Italy. Some Fascists and Communists shouted demands for the return of the territory that is occupied by Yugoslavia.

Stratton Turns Down Protest By Illinois Firm

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—The Stratton administration has turned down a request that work on the new state office building be halted for an investigation of contract practices.

The Rockford Chamber of Commerce called for such a step last week, saying the general contractor on the building had bypassed a Rockford firm on materials for part of the project and was getting them from Connecticut.

The chamber questioned whether this showed discrimination by the state against Illinois companies.

But in a statement released by Gov. William G. Stratton's office Monday, state supervising architect Louis H. Gerding said the state's policy was one of "open participation" in bidding on the office building.

Gerding said the Rockford protest "does not have to do with letting contracts by the state, but concerns where a contractor himself shall purchase his supplies and equipment."

"We have refused to exert pressure on the contractors in such matters and have no intention of changing that policy," Gerding said. "If the contractor expresses a preference for a product it must, of course, meet the standards of his contract with the state."

Rockford Chamber of Commerce Secretary Frank Spence said a provision should be written into all state contracts assuring Illinois manufacturers of equal consideration.

Marilyn Seeks Divorce in Court Tomorrow

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Marilyn Monroe goes to court to divorce Joe DiMaggio Wednesday, but she revealed today she's not sour on another marriage because "I still want a baby."

Hollywood's Grade A glamour girl won't say whether she'll tell all in court as to why her celebrated marriage with the sports figure broke up, or if she'll just go into the "he didn't like my spaghetti cooking" routine.

But in her first interview since she sent the baseball hero to the showers, Marilyn said she hopes some day to re-marry.

"Of course, I'm not thinking about anything like that now," she said with a weary laugh. "But I hope to marry again. I still want to have a baby."

"I'm not dating anybody and have no plans to. I've kept away from everybody. After the picture is finished I just want to take a rest. Maybe out of town."

Prison Warden Favors Gun Turrets In Dining Halls

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (UP)—The warden of the Missouri State Penitentiary, where there have been three disturbances in four days, said today he would recommend putting permanent gun turrets in the prison's dining halls.

Warden Ralph Eidson said a minor disturbance at noon Monday was caused because the prisoners were afraid of what "some punk kid" might do.

"They were afraid to come out to eat," said Eidson. "We had been informed by a 'runner' that the old-timers were fearful that, once in the dining hall, some punk kid might throw a plate or something and they'd all be in danger of getting shot."

Adenauer to Arrive in U. S. for Talks

BONN, Germany (UP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer left today on a flying visit to Washington and New York in the midst of loud complaints over concessions he made to enable West Germany to rearm.

Adenauer took off from Wahn Airport outside the capital of the Federal Republic aboard a U. S. Air Force Constellation. He is due in Washington Wednesday at 4 p. m.

The Chancellor was accompanied by U. S. High Commissioner James B. Conant, State Secretary Walter Hallstein and West German Chief of Protocol Hans von Herwarth.

They are scheduled to stop over briefly at Iceland, one of the few countries Adenauer has not visited, and Newfoundland.

In a nationwide radio address Monday night, Adenauer defended his concessions to France on the disputed Saar territory, once a part of Germany, at last week's Paris conference on German sovereignty and rearmament.

"The occupation has ended," Adenauer said. "We are once again free."

Adenauer said the Paris conference removed "heavy shadows threatening world peace and our Fatherland. I believe we can now look with confidence into the future."

Adenauer was criticized by the Socialist opposition for agreeing to economic union of the Saar with France and making other commitments.

But Adenauer said his political opponents had exaggerated the consequences of the concessions and had taken them out of context to distort their meaning.

The Chancellor singled out "reconciliation" of French and German interests for special praise.

"This will bring inner peace," Adenauer said.

From this side the thousand-yard spine of rock which separated the Carlson Castle from The Spires very much resembled a crouching lion looking down on the calm water of Puma Lake. Jim drove slowly up the winding road, making the hairpin turns with an evidence of caution which was only absent-mindedness.

Angelica had left her husband just before Peter had married the present Mrs. Kit. Angelica had been taken to California, interrupting or at least spoiling the "honeymoon," in order that Angelica might "forget" and probably as a part of the deal she had made with Mrs. Oswald.

Angelica loved her former husband deeply. Even say she was as "romantic" as Miss Wister intimated, wasn't her knuckling under to old Mrs. Oswald after Angelica had made the break—a little too much? Unless there is another reason?

The death of Gregory Stoneman in California had occurred after Angelica's "break" with her husband. So that tragic event might be ruled out as a motive for Angelica's return to the Carlsons, regardless of how much or how little it might have had to do with Angelica's actual death. The Carlsons believed firmly that Gregory Stoneman had been killed by one of themselves. Each suspected another. They were willing for the supposed killer to get away with murder, particularly when an outsider was concerned. But no one of them was above putting pressure of one sort or another on the supposed killer for motives of personal profit or personal power.

Stoneman now believed his brother's death accidental. Yet Stoneman insisted the others, Mrs. Kit, Mrs. Oswald, Mrs. Hilton, were positive murder had been done. What about the doll? It was possible for a woman like Angelica to place a great sentimental value on a childhood possession. But that was not enough reason for Angelica to return to The Spires when she had been frightened by someone following her.

The usual route, Miss Wister had been evasive about that, or at least had seemed relieved when he had not questioned her further.

Jim felt the thrill of excitement which comes with the discovery of one concrete base for the building of a structure of facts. In this case, the hiding place.

The Carlsons had come to the mountains around the first of August. The hiding place was a childhood haunt for Angelica and Peter. Sometime after the arrival, Angelica had revamped the old cache, witness the three rotten pieces of wood which had been replaced in the nook by new lumber.

She had visited it occasionally; she must have because her actions had aroused enough curiosity for someone to follow her.

She had learned that Mrs. Kit was coming to take up residence at The Spires. Peter had known of the hiding place. He might have told his wife. Whatever was hidden there was enough value to Angelica to warrant attempts to retrieve it. One attempt spoiled by the follower and by Jim Dunn's arrival, in spite of Stoneman's delaying tactics. The other attempt had been stopped by death itself.

Jim drove past the spot where the creek gushed out of the huge hole in the cliff side, the creek which entered near the Carlson swimming pool on the other side. He looked at it thoughtfully, decided its investigation could wait.

The deputy was sitting disconsolately on the runningboard of his car when Jim stopped in the parking area of The Spires.

"You come to relieve me?" the man asked hopefully.

"Sorry. I just came to check up on a couple of things," Jim admitted.

The deputy grumbled. "Look around all you want, for all of me. But tell Sheriff Agnes she better send someone else here if she wants this place watched. I've had enough." He followed Jim into the basement.

Dunn went to the furnace, clanged open its heavy iron door and bent down to stare into its sooty interior.

Jim borrowed a flashlight from the deputy, turned the beam in to the furnace's gloomy interior. There was nothing inside, no trace of any pitch chunk. But there was still considerable warmth coming out.

He closed the furnace door gently, walked over to the pile of wood stacked so conveniently to the elevator. He selected a three-foot section of pitch, split from a large and resinous stump. Certainly an ideal lethal weapon, almost as deadly in effect as a piece of lead pipe.

He heard a scuttling sound, saw the deputy backing away fearfully. Jim smiled and tossed the piece of pitch back onto the pile.

"Think I was going to slug you?" Jim asked.

"I been here too long," the man reminded.

Two fingers on Jim's right hand stuck together. He rubbed his hand on his pant leg, felt the adhesion to the material.

"You got pitch on you," the deputy said. "Hard stuff to get off, too, once it gets ground in."

Jim bent over, rubbed his palm and fingers in the dust of the floor. The stickiness of the pitch lessened, but his palm and fingers were covered with a black layer.

"A little turpentine or alcohol. That's what you need to get it off," the deputy said.

Chicago Daily News Endorses Meek

CHICAGO (UP)—The Chicago Daily News, a Knight newspaper, has endorsed Republican Joseph T. Meek for the U. S. Senate seat now held by Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.).

The News said in an editorial Monday that it now believes Meek's election would "better serve" the people of Illinois and the nation, although the News did not support Meek in the spring primary.

President Eisenhower will need a Republican Senate, the News said.

It said Douglas is a man of "national stature" but has become "more partisan, more political, more demagogic with the passage of time."

"Formerly we admired his courage, the News said. "Today we deplore his recklessness."
